

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

5.1 Conclusion

The team dynamics carried out in the film X-Men: First Class went smoothly. It was found that the Tuckman Model's Team Dynamic which consists of forming, storming, norming and performing and it can be implemented in a X-Men: First Class Movie. All stages were discovered and had their own portion in this movie. The activity forms the understanding of the mutant members in this film about the importance of teamwork and mutual trust in each other. In addition, teamwork also forms a sense of self-actualization for a number of group members.

Overall From all the stages undertaken, it can also be seen the initial development of a team from the development of ideas to the achievement of the desired goals. The goal of stopping Sebastian Shaw who wanted to launch nuclear weapons in several countries and prevent a third world war was achieved.