ABSTRACT

PT Indo Porcelain is one of the main white porcelain tableware manufacturers in Asia and was acquired by Gunung Sewu in 1979. This study aims to analyze the effect of Work From Home, Work Environment and Work Motivation on Employee Performance. The sample in this study were 57 employees of the marketing department who were affected by Work From Home (WFH). The research instrument used was a questionnaire. The results of the instrument test stated that the data in this study was proven to be valid and reliable. In the Classical Assumption Test, it is stated that the data in this study are normally distributed and produce a regression model that is free from multicollinearity and heteroscedasticity. The results of this study indicate that Work From Home, Work Environment and Work Motivation have a simultaneous and significant effect on employee performance at PT Indo Porcelain. This can be proven by the significant level obtained from this study, namely $0.000 < 0.05$ and the Adjusted R-square of 0.719. It can be interpreted that the contribution of Work From Home, Work Environment and Work Motivation is 71.9%, while the remaining 28.1% the performance of PT Indo Porcelain employees is influenced by other variables not examined. Partially, work from home has a significant effect on employee performance of 0.033, the work environment has a significant effect on employee performance of 0.030, and work motivation has a significant effect on employee performance of 0.009.
